President’s Report

Since my appointment as President of Philanthropy Australia in August 2014, I have been listening to our Members, Council Members, staff and stakeholders in order to ascertain the strengths and weaknesses of the organisation.

Clearly a lot has been achieved over the past few years. There are both challenges and exciting opportunities ahead.

Much thanks must go to Louise Walsh, our departing CEO, who, for two and a half years has steered Philanthropy Australia on a course to increase and broaden membership, including the rise in membership of Private Ancillary Funds and the creation of our New Generation of Giving membership program. Louise has also developed a range of important initiatives such as our international New Gen Field Trips and Private Giving Study Tours.

Louise has led the organisation with passion and enthusiasm, and has brought about immense change and advancement. On behalf of Council, staff and our membership, I would like to offer our thanks and gratitude to Louise for her significant contribution. We wish her well when she leaves the organisation at the end of March 2015.

The recruitment process for a new CEO is underway.

At a Council level our Vice President, Dur-e Dara, resigned after 16 years of service. Our sincere thanks go to Dur-e for her deep commitment and dedication. We were delighted to welcome Peter Winneke and Craig Winkler to Council, both of whom bring significant commercial and philanthropic expertise to the organisation.

I would also like to sincerely thank Dur-e for stepping in to hold the reigns as Acting President in January 2014 prior to her resignation in February, and to Robert McLean, who then undertook the role until my appointment.

We head into 2015 with enthusiasm and excitement about the future. We look forward to working with our staff, Members and stakeholders to develop a Strategic Plan to guide the future of the organisation.

On behalf of the Council, I would like to thank our staff for their passion and hard work and to thank our Members for their ongoing support.

Finally, I would like to acknowledge the enormous contribution our Members make to the advancement of philanthropy in Australia.

Alan Schwartz AM
President
I have recently had cause to reflect on the achievements of the past two and a half years. It has been an absolutely amazing experience to lead Philanthropy Australia, and I know that when I leave at the end of March, I’m leaving the organisation in a strong position to move into the future.

I am proud to have led Philanthropy Australia to achieve some significant outcomes that have helped us deliver key initiatives for our Members and the broader philanthropic sector.

During the past 12 months, we have consolidated the growth of the previous year – bedding down many of the changes and continuing to focus on delivering our strategic plan. We have also taken considerable steps in the implementation of the current plan, which has been extended to the end of 2015.

Planning is underway for the 2016-2018 Strategic Plan. We will update the membership about the progress and the consultation period at our AGM on 21 April, and via our newsletters and emails.

At the AGM in April 2014 Members voted for a new Constitution, one that much better serves our membership and ensures we fulfil legislative requirements. Our thanks to Council member, Ann Johnson, and Herbert Smith Freehills’ Alice MacDougall for their tireless work on this project.

Collectively, more than 1,500 Members and Associates took advantage of our professional development program, national conference, learning events, mentoring program, and US study tour in 2014.

We are particularly proud of the overwhelmingly positive feedback we received following the Philanthropy Australia National Conference in September. The conference brought more than 50 leading local and international philanthropists, trendsetters and visionaries together to present on a wide range of topics of relevance to the philanthropic sector.

The two-day conference drew more than 700 delegates from the philanthropic, advisory and not-for-profit sectors.

We launched our inaugural Philanthropy Leader Awards at the conference. Allan English was awarded 2014 Philanthropy Leader of the Year and Michael Gonski 2014 Emerging Philanthropy Leader. We were also pleased to appoint Life Membership to Darrell M. Hutchinson AM, retired Chairman of the Helen Macpherson Smith Trust.

Another resounding success this year was our Understanding PAFs series in Melbourne, Sydney, Brisbane and Adelaide in June. More than 330 board members and senior staff from not-for-profit, government and community organisations attended the series.

We rolled out a new professional development offering towards the end of 2014, which included a number of webinars. Based on feedback from our membership for more flexible learning opportunities, webinars will form the main element of our professional development program from 2015.

We appointed a new Policy & Research Manager in January 2014 to increase our engagement with our Members, the sector and government in regards to policy and research. The dedicated focus on this area has meant we have been able to undertake a number of initiatives including: increasing the frequency of policy alerts to Members; planning the Philanthropy Meets Parliament Summit for 9 September 2015; offering support to the members of the Prime Minister’s Community Business Partnership, and; developing a benchmarking study that will measure the resources committed to the day-to-day operations of trusts and foundations which will be completed in the first half of 2015.

We refined our communication offering a cleaner, more user-friendly format for our digital publications and website with a focus on developing and publishing content that engages, inspires and informs.

We finished the year with our inaugural Private Giving US Field Trip. Twenty-four Philanthropy Australia Members joined us on a study tour to New York and Washington. The group met with a high-profile line-up of US philanthropists including The F.B. Heron Foundation, Rockefeller Brothers Fund, Einhorn Charitable Trust, Ford Foundation, Clinton Foundation and Warren Buffett’s son Peter. Participants included members of the Myer Foundation and Sidney Myer Fund, the Vincent Fairfax Family Foundation, the Keir Foundation, Tim Fairfax Nelson Meers Foundation, James & Diana Ramsay Foundation, Foundation, the Snow Foundation, CAGES Foundation, Hosking Sidney Myer Fund, the Vincent Fairfax Family Foundation, the Keir Foundation, Tim Fairfax Family Foundation and the Snow Foundation.

We bid farewell to a number of staff this year including Mary Borsellino and Cheryl O’Kelly. Their contribution to Philanthropy Australia over many years was significant. I wish them all the very best in the future. We must also thank those who helped with our National Conference and CRM project in 2014. I would also like to acknowledge and thank Anna Draffin, who as Deputy CEO was instrumental in many of the achievements over the past two years. We wish her well.

The Council and I would like to recognise the hard work of our staff and thank them for their continued dedication to Philanthropy Australia and the philanthropic sector.

Acknowledgement and thanks must go to the dozens of generous supporters who have partnered with us in 2014. You can read more about them further in this report.

I would personally like to thank our staff, Council and Members for your support during my time at Philanthropy Australia.

Louise Walsh
Chief Executive Officer
The membership accessed regular networking, live problem solving and professional development sessions in Sydney, Melbourne, Brisbane and Adelaide. These sessions included a focus on board development, complementing our board placement program which has now placed over 30 members on to not-for-profit boards. We are grateful to Philanthropy Australia Members who participated as guest speakers to develop the next generation of leaders. New Gen has also collaborated with philanthropic initiatives to amplify its impact of the program, in the form of strategic partnerships with Nexus Australian Youth Summit and the Observatory Program, and providing support for 10x10 (a collective giving model for young professionals).

Program Managers Mentoring Program
Six mentor/mentee partnerships were formed in 2014 as part of our pilot program. The calibre of the mentors was outstanding, bringing leadership expertise from a range of sectors to share with our participants.

Philanthropy Leader Awards
The Philanthropy Australia Philanthropy Leader Awards were created to recognise those who stand at the forefront of innovation in the philanthropic sector. The inaugural winners were high-profile Queensland entrepreneur and innovative corporate philanthropist, Allan English, who received the 2014 Philanthropy Leader of the Year award, and dynamic newcomer, Michael Gonski, a partner at Herbert Smith Freehills law firm, who received the award for Emerging Philanthropy Leader.

Funders Groups and Network
Funders Groups were held nationally in 2014 to stimulate peer learning and best-practice in the following cause-related areas: Addressing Homelessness, Ageing Futures, Arts, Disability, Education, Indigenous, International Giving and Rural and Regional.

National Networks provided segments of funders with common interests and experiences an opportunity to meet. We held meeting for the following networks: CEOs Network, Corporate Network, Community Foundations Network and Family Foundations Network.

Membership services
Philanthropy Australia experienced membership growth again in 2014 with membership as at 31 December 2014 reaching almost 770 for Members and Associates.

A number of key events were supported by the membership services team in 2014, below is a snapshot of the highlights.

New South Wales and Australian Capital Territory
This year Philanthropy Australia partnered with the Foundation for Rural and Regional Renewal (FRRR) on the Innovation Community Impact (I4CI) grants, which engages our philanthropic funders with matched funding from the New South Wales Government Department of Family and Community Services.

Philanthropy Australia is on the founding committee for the establishment of the Australian Schools Plus Fund – which will allow funders to give to disadvantaged schools across Australia. We were also on the advisory committee, and facilitated sessions, for the International Association Volunteering Effort (IAVE) 2014 global conference in September 2014.

Northern Territory
Philanthropy Australia presented as part of a keynote panel session at the inaugural Trading Ideas Conference in Darwin.

Queensland
The Social Investors (Queensland Funders) Network fostered great dialogue between new and experienced funders. We supported the formation of Women & Change: Queensland Women’s Giving Circle, now with 55 members.

South Australia
In October 2014 Philanthropy Australia partnered with CEDA, LISA (Leaders Institute) and Impact (SA) to hold the successful ‘The Business of Giving’ event at the Adelaide Festival Centre. The event provided the more than 100 attendees critical insights into current thinking around philanthropy.

Tasmania
Philanthropy Australia conducted a range of philanthropy workshops and meetings during 2014.

Victoria
In September 2014 we again supported the National Community Foundations Forum (NCF). We provided support for the Victorian Community Philanthropy event, along with FRRR, in the Yarra Valley from 2-5 September. More than 90 delegates had the chance to hear from a range of speakers including Ian Bird, President of the Community Foundations of Canada.

Western Australia
Western Australian Members came together for an inaugural networking session in November, at which our Policy & Research Manager provided a policy update via video link, and took part in a Q&A session.

New Generation of Giving Program
Membership reached almost 200 nationally this year for our New Gen program. To date, New Gen has generated over $2 million in donations and impact investments (known and directly attributed to the program). The international keynote series with young female entrepreneur Alexandra Peterson Cart, co-founder of impact investing and advisory firm Madeira Global US, drew more than 350 attendees in Sydney and Melbourne.

Highlights
which can help grow philanthropy and its impact. The response to the submission was very positive and Philanthropy Australia is optimistic that a number of the proposals will be implemented.

Philanthropy Australia is looking forward to working with the Partnership and Federal Government to examine and implement more transformative changes which will further develop Australia’s culture of giving.

Progress was made during 2014 on a research project to benchmark the operational costs and resources of trusts and foundations, which will be a very useful resource to Members when completed in the first half of 2015. In order to bring the worlds of government and philanthropy closer, a decision was made in 2014 to host the first ‘Philanthropy Meets Parliament Summit’ to be held on 2-3 September 2015 at Parliament House in Canberra. Philanthropy Australia will continue to actively engage in public policy debates going forward, to represent the interests of our Members and help grow philanthropy and its impact.

Marketing, Communications and Events
Philanthropy Australia refined its marketing and communication in 2014, including, re-designing our digital publications to make them easier to read and digest, updating website content and creating more rich content such as video and audio segments, and, revising the website infrastructure following the launch of the new website in December 2013.

It was another strong year of domestic media coverage and engagement in 2014 for Philanthropy Australia, including industry and mainstream radio, television, newspaper, magazine and digital content. Philanthropy Australia delivered an extensive program of professional development and thought leadership events and workshops for the benefit of our Members, Associates and the sector as a whole. Events were presented by international keynote speakers and local sector experts. The highlights for the professional development and learning calendar for 2014 follow.

The Philanthropy Australia 2014 National Conference
The biennial national conference is our flagship event. Held in Melbourne on 2 and 3 September 2014, the event was a resounding success with more than 700 delegates attending. Day one featured a range of international and national keynote speakers; it concluded with Delegate Drinks in the evening. Day two was a Member-only Funder Immersion day with up to six concurrent sessions focused on cause-related areas. Feedback from the conference was overwhelmingly positive and attendance numbers nearly doubled those of previous years. The tremendous efforts of our staff, volunteers, facilitators and speakers in creating such a successful event are commendable.

2014 Private Giving US Field Trip
In October 2014, Philanthropy Australia led a group of 24 Members to New York and Washington to participate in high level, intensive meetings and presentations with American leaders in philanthropy including The F.B. Heron Foundation, Rockefeller Brothers Fund, Einhorn Charitable Trust, Ford Foundation, Clinton Foundation and Warren Buffett’s son Peter.

On return from the Field Trip, participants shared their learning with more than 300 Members and Associates in Sydney, Brisbane and Adelaide during lively in-conversation sessions.

New Generation Keynote address
Alexandra Peterson Cart, co-founder and Director of Strategic Development at US impact investment and advisory firm, Madeira Global, was interviewed by Jemima Whyte (Australian Financial Review) for the 2014 New Generation Keynote address in Melbourne and Sydney in October. Alexandra, who has adopted philanthropy as the fundamental pillar in her approach to life and work, shared her views and insights on new ways of thinking about philanthropy, particularly around impact investing.

Not-for-Profit Workshop Series – Understanding PAFs
The Understanding PAF’s workshop series held in June was a deep dive into one of the most important and fastest growing segments of the philanthropic sector. The workshops sold out in Sydney and Melbourne and almost reached full houses in Adelaide and Brisbane.

Professional development
Philanthropy Australia again held its Philanthropy 101, Impact Investing 101, Grant-Making 101 workshops. Philanthropy Australia again held its Professional development program of professional development and learning calendar for 2014 follow.

Partnerships
2014 built on the success of our new partnerships approach to strengthen and diversify finances, grow current and prospective commercial relationships, and seek investment in new program initiatives. The Philanthropy Australia 2014 National Conference offered a range of partnership opportunities to Members and Associates wishing to demonstrate their support of philanthropy on a national scale.

We continued to secure and foster partnership opportunities, resulting in over $1 million of cash and in-kind partnerships designed to be generative whilst mobilising resources, ideas, knowledge and creativity.

Partnerships enable us to extend existing programs, including the New Generation of Giving program, the Impact Investing program and National Workshop Series for Not-For-Profits, and produce new initiatives, including the Program Managers Mentoring Program and the Benchmarking the Operational Resources of Trusts and Foundations project.

Our thanks go to all Members, Associates and other industry collaborators who made these partnerships possible. A full list of our 2014 Partners is available further in this report.

1 Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

(a) Basis of Preparation
Philanthropy Australia applies Australian Accounting Standards - Reduced Disclosure Requirements as set out in AASB 105.

(b) Comparative Amounts
When required by Accounting Standards, comparative figures have been adjusted to conform to changes in information, have been prepared on an accruals basis and presented within current liabilities on the statement of financial position.

(c) Income Tax
The Association is exempt from income tax under Division 50 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997.

(d) Leases
Lease payments for operating leases, where substantially all of the risks and benefits remain with the lessor, are charged as expenses on a straight line basis over the life of the lease term.

(e) Revenue and other income
The membership fee from Full and Associate Members is recognized proportionately over the subscription year. Any balance not earned as income at year end is recognized as unearned income in Liabilities.

Interest revenue is recognized on a proportional basis, taking into account the interest rates applicable to the financial assets.

Revenue from the sale of goods is recognized upon delivery of goods to customers.

Grant and donation revenue is recognized in the statement of profit or loss and other comprehensive income when the entity retains control of the grant, it is probable that the economic benefits gained from the grant will flow to the entity and the amount of the grant can be measured reliably.

When grant revenue is received whereby the entity incurs an obligation to deliver economic value directly back to the contributor, this is considered a reciprocal transaction and grant revenue is recognized in the statement of financial position as a liability until the services has been delivered to the contributor, otherwise the grant is recognized as income on receipt.

Revenue from the conference was recognized as income in advance and brought to account as income after the conference.

Revenue from workshops and seminars are recognized as income when invoiced.

All revenue is stated net of the amount of goods and services tax (GST).

(f) Goods and Services Tax (GST)
Revenue, expenses and assets are recognized net of the amount of goods and services tax (GST), except where the amount of GST incurred is not recoverable from the Australian Taxation Office (ATO).

Receivables and payables are stated inclusive of GST. The net amount of GST recoverable from, or payable to, the ATO is included as part of receivables or payables in the statement of financial position.

Cash flows in the statement of cash flows are included on a gross basis and the GST component of cash flows arising from investing and financing activities which is recoverable from, or payable to, the taxation authority is classified as operating cash flows.

(g) Property, Plant and Equipment
Each class of property, plant and equipment is carried at cost subject to uniform depreciation and impairment losses.

Plant and equipment
Plant and equipment is measured on a cost basis less depreciation and impairment losses. Cost includes expenditure that is directly attributable to the asset. In the event the carrying amount of plant and equipment is greater than its estimated recoverable amount, the carrying amount is written down immediately to its estimated recoverable amount and impairment losses recognized either in profit or loss or as a revaluation decrease if the impairment losses relate to a revalued asset. A formal assessment of recoverable amount is made when impairment indicators are present.

Depreciation
The depreciable amount of all fixed assets is depreciated on a straight-line basis over the asset’s useful life commencing from the time the asset is held for use. Leasehold improvements are depreciated over the shorter of either the unexpired period of the lease or the estimated useful lives of the improvements.

The depreciation rates used for each class of depreciable asset are shown below:

<thead>
<tr>
<th>Asset Class</th>
<th>Depreciation Rate</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Furniture, Fixtures and Fittings</td>
<td>33%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Office Equipment</td>
<td>33%</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

At the end of each annual reporting period, the depreciation method, useful life and residual value of each asset is reviewed. Any revisions are accounted for prospectively as a change in estimate.

(h) Financial Instruments
Financial instruments are recognized initially using trade date accounting, i.e. on the date that Company becomes party to the contractual provisions of the instrument.

On initial recognition, all financial instruments are measured at fair value plus transaction costs (except for instruments measured at fair value through profit or loss where transaction costs are expensed as incurred).

Held-to-maturity investments
Held-to-maturity investments are non-derivative financial assets with fixed or determinable payments and fixed maturity. Investments are classified as held-to-maturity if it is the intention of the Company’s management to hold them until maturity.

Held-to-maturity investments are subsequently measured at amortized cost using the effective interest method, with revenue recognized on an effective yield basis. In addition, if there is objective evidence that the investment has been impaired, the financial asset is measured at the present value of estimated cash flows. Any changes to the carrying amount of the investment are recognized in profit or loss.

(i) Cash and cash equivalents
Cash and cash equivalents comprises cash on hand, on demand deposits and short-term investments which are readily convertible to known amounts of cash and which are subject to an insignificant risk of change in value. Any bank overdrafts also form part of cash equivalents for the purpose of the statement of cash flows and are presented within current liabilities on the statement of financial position.

(j) Employee benefits
Provision is made for the Company’s liability for employee benefits arising from services rendered by employees to the end of the reporting period. Employee benefits that are expected to be settled within one year have been measured at the amounts expected to be paid when the liability is settled.

Employee benefits expected to be settled more than twelve months after the end of the reporting period have been measured at the present value of the estimated future cash outflows to be made for these benefits. In determining the liability, consideration is given to the probability that the employee may satisfy vesting requirements. Cash flows are discounted using market yields on national government bonds with terms to maturity that match the expected timing of cash flows.

Changes in the measurement of the liability are recognized in profit or loss.

For the purpose of measurement, AASB 119 defines obligations for short-term employee benefits as obligations expected to be settled wholly within 12 months after the end of the annual reporting period in which the employees render the related services. In accordance with AASB 119, provisions for short-term employee benefits are measured at the (un)discounted amounts expected to be paid to employees when the obligation is settled, whereas provisions that do not meet the criteria for classification as short-term (other long-term employee benefits) are measured at the present value of the expected future payments to be made to employees.

(k) Critical accounting estimates and judgments
Key estimates – impairment
Philanthropy Australia assesses impairment at the end of each reporting year by evaluating conditions specific to the Company that may be indicative of impairment triggers. Recoverable amounts of relevant assets are reassessed using value-in-use calculations which incorporate various key assumptions.

(l) Correction of prior period error
Philanthropy Australia has corrected a prior period error identified by management in Note 14 “Key Management Personnel Disclosures”. The reported amount for 2013 was $296,845 in salaries and fees, and $25,717 in superannuation. The amount has been corrected to $325,056 in salaries and fees, and $29,666 in superannuation.

There has been no effect to the Statement of Profit and Loss and Other Comprehensive Income in the prior year from this restatement of key management personnel disclosure.
